YARD ATTS AGAINST JEW TERROR THREAT

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

CONFIRMATION OF THE NEWS PUBLISHED EXCLUSIVELY IN "THE PEOPLE" LAST SUNDAY, THAT JEWISH TERRORISTS WERE PLANNING TO EXTEND THEIR UNDERGROUND WAR FROM PALESTINE TO THIS COUNTRY WAS FORTHCOMING IN LONDON LAST NIGHT.

I learn that special precautions have been taken by Scotland Yard both inside and outside certain Government buildings as the result of information reaching the authorities as to the activities and movements of Jewish terrorists.

Ruhr Food Crisis

Tension Mounts In German Cities

FROM KEITH GARNER
British H.Q., Germany, Saturday.

An atmosphere of tension and latent unrest hung over Germany's big cities in the British Zone today as news of the gravity of the food situation reached the population, and unofficial reports said that public safety officers were standing by for possible disturbances.

Warning of unrest was given by German trade union officials who said they could no longer take responsibility for the workers' action if the food news grew worse. No demonstrations have been reported so far but officials in the ruined cities of Hamburg and Düsseldorf could be seen standing at street corners discussing the situation.

News of food shortages continued with North-West Germany's real really cold spell this year. Small floods were caused by ice and a high wind howled round the ruins of bombed towns.

Here are most recent comments from the great cities of the British Zone.

HAMBURG: Officials were still standing-by for a report of the talks the British C.O., Sir Leslie Douglas, has been having with the Government in London.

"We are holding on for instructions," the official said. "The whole matter is being handled at a higher level."

COLOGNE: Reports reached British H.Q. that the population of Cologne this week received only 82 calories ration daily, the official 1,550.

Dusseldorf: Half A Day's Food Left

FROM CHARLES WIGHTON
Hamburg, Saturday.

Ships laden with twenty thousand tons of foodstuffs are being loaded for the British Zone, but even then supplies may be short. It is the new, in the case of the city, that high-ranking British officials are now considering whether to make a personal appeal to Mr. Attlee to come and see for himself how great is the threatened catastrophe.

In the food stores of the once thriving city of Düsseldorf, there are 93 tons of bread and once again at midday today the rationing of food is being carried out to provide the 1,000 calories-a-day diet. Should be 2,000.

Unification

WASHINGTON, Saturday.

Sen. Lucius Clay, Deputy Military Governor of the United States Occupation Zone, announced yesterday that after considering objections to the plan for unification of the British and American zones, he would be in a position to announce the plan.

Mr. Clay will perform the ceremony on Sunday at 11 a.m. The ceremony on the plaque will be a secret until after the unveiling.

Westminster Abbey will be open for the pilgrimage to the Unknown Warrior's Tomb at 11:30 a.m., and will remain open until 5 p.m.

Cenotaph's Secret

FOR the Remembrance Day service at the Cenotaph today, the first official ceremony for the dead of two wars, hundreds of thousands of people are expected to flock to Whitehall and Westminster.

To control the press of people hundreds of Metropolitan police will be on duty, with radio vans and loud-speaker cars, and they will be supplemented by nearly 400 special police.

Leading British News Agencies announced this dramatic development in the following statement:

"The Press Association learns that as the result of information received in London concerning the possible activities of Jewish terrorists, precautions are being taken by the authorities. Watch is being kept at some important buildings."

Exchange Telegraph stated: "In Downing-st. and Charles-st. and Whitehall a number of police are keeping watch on Government buildings."

"BIG FIVE" CONFERENCE.

"I can reveal that during the week, Scotland Yard received definite information that certain terrorists were on their way to Britain, and made special arrangements."

There was a conference, with Sir Harold Scott, Metropolitan Police Commissioner, presiding. "The Big Five" were in attendance.

Members of the Special Branch were among those detailed for duty. They were sent to various parts of the Home Counties and other parts of the country to collect information which might be of value to the police in connection with the possible movements of terrorists.

It is believed that about twelve of the terrorists are trying to get into Britain.

Another move was to detail armed guards to look after certain properties and also the homes of Cabinet Ministers and prominent people in the Services.

A day and night watch is being kept at all key buildings and important places in London. They are protected by police officers who are expert revolver shots. Wireless sets have been instructed to pay special attention to certain areas and visit the men on duty.

Where Does The Food Go?

WASHINGTON, Saturday.

SENATOR KENNETH S. WHERRY (Republican), who is leaving for Europe today, has been asked by the United States government to see what he can do to help the food situation in Europe.

Mr. Wherry said he will spend 19 days in Europe, visiting every country which allows him entry, including Russia and Yugoslavia.

The United States government has received reports that Russia and Yugoslavia had received about 1,000,000 pounds of meat he said the United States had sent to Europe during the first six months of this year.

We Ask For 1947 Wheat

WASHINGTON, Saturday.

BRITAIN has applied to the United States for allocation of a large quantity of wheat for delivery to the United Kingdom in the autumn of 1947.

Decisions on this request has yet been taken. It was stated.

'Free Travel' Talks Continue

Discussions on the possible abolition of visas between Britain and Holland have been started, and similar negotiations between Britain and France are now being conducted.

LONDON'S NEW LORD MAYOR

SIR BRACEWELL SMITH, at the Guildhall yesterday, before driving through London in the Lord Mayor's Coach which has not been used since before the war.

A woman, defending a divorce action at Leicester Assize, claimed that love-letters she had written were intended for an imaginary husband.

"I think it is the most preposterous story ever put before me as court," commented the Commissioner, Mr. St. John Field, S.C.

"It is absolutely preposterous, and I wonder the woman had the impudence to stand in the box and tell it."

The woman was Winifred May Knight, of Winchester, Dorset, London.

A decree nisi was granted to Capt. Joseph William Knight, Pioneer Corps, Queen-st., Thurston, Ireland, on the grounds of her misconduct with Albert Ingham, of Atherstone, Warwickshire.

ROMANTIC IMAGINATION

The Commissioner said he had not the slightest doubt that a Knight was guilty of misconduct, and there would be costs against him. He refused a request for an application to be made in the case.

"If only you could be with me in person," the Commissioner said, was impossible of reconciliation with having been written to an imaginary person.

Quoting another passage, he commented: "I cannot accept the possibility of anyone writing that to anyone but a lover and a real lover."

"I cannot prove my love to an imaginary husband," she said. "Why wash my back? The Commissioner said that that was a credible thing for a woman to write to a lover, but an incredible thing for a woman to write to an imaginary husband."

Four men who were marooned in a skiff for over four hours on a Thames mudbank off Epsom, Kent, were rescued by the M.F.S. last night with the aid of rescue apparatus.

They were taken to British Coast Hospital suffering from exposure and sun. Edmund Stonor, of Mount Pleasant, West, Preston, Lancs, was detained.

"The Story Of Princess Elizabeth"

"THE STORY OF PRINCESS ELIZABETH," A NEW SERIES OF ARTICLES DEALING MATERIALLY WITH THE PRIVATE AND PUBLIC LIFE OF THE HEIRESS TO THE THRONE, BEGINS TODAY IN PAGE TWO.

Based on material not previously published, these fascinating facts about the future Queen of Britain will reveal, among other things, that a change in the Royal title is under consideration.

The King and his advisers feel that if the granting of self-government to India proves successful over a period of time, the historic form of address by which His Majesty is styled, "Emperor of India," should be discontinued.

At present, official documents bearing the King's name describe him as "George VI, by the grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith and Emperor of India."

It is when an adjustment is made, the last four words may be deleted and the words "and India" added after the reference to the Dominions.

THIS is only one of a number of new facts contained in "The Story of Princess Elizabeth." Others deal with her private life, her tastes in dress, her hobbies, her exciting preparation for the Throne; her pleasures, her hobbies, her friends.

TURN TO PAGE TWO FOR THE BEGINNING OF THIS HITHERTO UNTOLD "STORY OF PRINCESS ELIZABETH."

'Pennies From Heaven'

Poor To Share Out £80,000,000

TWO thousand million pennies from heaven are to go to poor people in the greatest share-out in history.

The money, £80,000,000, will come from the United States, and the beneficiaries will be distant relatives in the home country of men who set out years ago to seek their fortunes across the Atlantic.

Over a long period, and especially during the war, the money has been accumulating in U.S.A. It consists of the unclaimed estates of rich and not-so-rich who died intestate and whose heirs are unknown.

To find the missing heirs is the task of Mr. Louis Irman Altshuler, of Boston, Massachusetts. He himself was an immigrant from Russia to America when he was seven.

He is now in Europe with details of almost every day of his life. In his Grandfather's house, he has a suite of special in London following up clues to heirs being traced.

"I do not want any letters from people who think they are entitled to a windfall. The lucky will be notified as soon as we have checked up credentials."

A London family will shortly receive £10,000. Rarely will windfalls exceed this figure. Often they will be only a few hundred pounds.

In almost every case the heirs have been found to be

Windsor Gems Now In U.S.?

SENSATIONAL story that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in London are now in the United States, is told by Mr. Irving Shumford, a "private jewel trader" in New York.

Mr. Shumford, who says Lloyd's has placed a reward of £2,500 in his hands, expects an American seaman to claim the amount.

I believe the man has been in my office. He is a Jew. A series of other events it won't be surprising if he is the Jew who stole the jewels are in the United States," heuter.

BECAUSE of shortage of staff and materials, and too much bad coal, the winter travel outlook is "disquieting," the L.M.S. and L.N.E. Railways announced yesterday.

For the first time for many years trains will probably have to be slowed down next year on both railways.

This is the position, as it was explained to me yesterday:

L.M.S. Since the Essential Works Order was withdrawn, 8,000 workers have left the company. Many have taken other jobs because they could not find houses. In the last four weeks, rail failures caused lines to be blocked for 16 hours, and 48 hours were lost through trains having to be run at reduced speeds.

These conditions will last throughout the winter and next year the deeper shortage will probably require a slowing-down of train speeds.

There were 244 locomotive failures in the past four weeks.

An average of 10 locomotives a day lose time through shortage of staff.

There are 1,840 carriages held in 1939, and prospects of obtaining more are not encouraging. Repair shops are working at full strength, but the rate of repair is slower than it was in 1938.

L.N.E. Lack of locomotive power is the main trouble. Replacements are slower than pre-war because of the shortage of staff.

"Before we war we could pick up the deeper shortage will probably require a slowing-down of train speeds."

"Now about a third of it is useless. With inferior staff, engines often have to stop for fire-boxes to be cleaned, and this causes delays."

"About one engine in five is awaiting repairs."

The Ministry of Transport told me that it was "fully aware of the difficulties, which are the result of the war."

"Large arrears of maintenance have accumulated and it will take some time to overtake them."

"All practicable means are being taken to mitigate the effects of war-time exigencies and shortages of materials."

HUNTING 4 P.O.W.s

POLICE were searching the Isle of Wight yesterday for three men believed to be German P.O.W.s who landed on the shore near St. Catherine's lighthouse on Friday.

The men were seen in a boat and are thought to be hiding in the famous undercliff, an eight-mile stretch of wooded country with many natural hideouts.

The men are believed to have escaped from Bournemouth on the shore near St. Catherine's lighthouse on Friday.

ATTLEE DENOUNCES ALLIED BICKERINGS

Germany Is Key To European Peace

"In Europe, the key to prosperity, peace and tranquillity will be the settlement of Germany," declared Mr. Attlee in his London Guildhall speech last night, when he reviewed at length the situation both at home and abroad.

Commenting on the careful study of the plan set out in the Commons Debate, the Prime Minister said it had two objectives:

"One, 'we want to allow the German people to live in peace and to be able to maintain themselves and to contribute to the standard of life in Europe and the world. We cannot have a cesspool of cheap labour and exploited labour in the middle of Europe which may bring down our whole standard of life unless we act with great care.'"

"Secondly in doing this we must preserve our security and that of our Allies. These industries must not again be allowed to become an arsenal to be used by a new Germany to attack their neighbours or to promote another war and it is this fine balance that has to be so carefully worked out and the right controls established."

"I have often felt that there was sufficient cohesion between our financial policy and security measures between the two wars. The time anything we do in the realm of the reconstruction of Germany must take into account the factors and particularly the security."

"Surely if ever there was a problem that merited the widest operation of Allied statesmen without kicking, the question of Germany must be democratic. This is one we have given consideration to all the possibilities. We have not forward our plan. We are willing that it should go on the basis of discussion. We hope that we may reach a European agreement which will give peace and confidence for generations to come."

"THERE IS OBSTRUCTION" "The creation of a Europe in which its many nations may peacefully live in peace together, joining together its matchless heritage of thought and culture, is essential to the peace of the world and the settlement of the future of Germany is a crucial factor in the solution of the problem."

"In view of his speech Mr. Attlee referred to the United Nations Organisation, remarking: 'I know we have all felt disappointed at the way in which the Organisation is being used.'"

"Instead of its proceedings."
